Wherever in the world staff are required to live or work employers have a duty of care to ensure they are fully prepared for any challenges they may face.

At 3rg we understand how to design and deliver fully tailored Hostile Environment Training programmes. These programmes are the culmination of the 3rg instruction team's experience and expertise of operating in complex and challenging environments.

Who Should Attend

The course will meet the needs of anyone required to travel or work in hostile or unfamiliar environments.

About the Course

3rg's Hostile Environment Training is designed to help key personnel reduce critical risk through their own awareness and actions. This is achieved by increasing their individual ability to effectively assess the risks of travelling and working in hostile environments, whilst also developing their practical responses to challenging situations.

The interactive training is delivered through a combination of lectures, discussion exercises and practical outdoor scenarios, specifically designed to develop personal security and awareness techniques.

The course content is flexible and can be tailored to meet the specific requirements of participants. This includes focus on their own area of operations and the conditions they will be working under. The courses can be up to five days in duration with an overall focus for attendees to develop strategies to mitigate risk, gain confidence and react effectively to any situations they may face once deployed.
